"We were called..." "I'm back with my mom and grandma!" - Robert, age 10

It was the second foster home in a year for the two children; Shauna, age 7, and Robert, age 10. We were called by county child welfare because of concerns about parental neglect and abandonment. Dad was in jail. Mom was overwhelmed and emotionally distraught. It was grandma who was the steady influence in their lives. NOW, four months later, the children are settled in school, mom has gained self-confidence and is doing well both at home and in her job. Grandma is helping care for the children after school, and the family is staying together.

THE BENEFITS AND IMPACT OF OUR PROGRAMS

"We were called..."

"I didn't think I could do it!"

-Josh, age 15

Josh was very worried and insecure. He rarely talked to others. At home and school, he would quickly withdraw into a social shell. We were called to include Josh in our STORY program, which focuses on youth with similar needs and problems. Over the next 12 weeks, Josh began to open up. He did exercises and projects that helped him share his dreams and hopes for the future. He embraced some personal values, which helped him gain the courage to become a leader in the class. NOW, Josh is a real talker. His parents, teachers and friends are amazed. Josh has made some great friends and even went to the school dance! HOORAY for Josh!

"Lola's my best friend!"

- Stevie, age 9

Stevie was full of fear and reacted with temper tantrums and runaways. We were called to provide animal assisted therapy. The therapist and her dog, Lola, came every week to help. NOW, Stevie is a student in a regular classroom.

"Our family is back together!"

- Angie, age 13 and Eric, age 11

Their family was broken with angry outbursts and abandonment. The court placed both children in foster care. We were called to calm the family crisis. NOW, after months of therapy and relationship building, the marriage is saved and the family is back together.

"I am not my diagnosis!"

- Alicia, age 14

Alicia was really struggling. Born with a genetic disorder, she had angry outbursts, was easily distracted and labeled with several diagnoses.

We were called to provide a specialized mentor to help Alicia learn to make friends and inspire hope. She blossomed doing creative projects and opened her heart to the mentor. NOW, Alicia is confident, has friends and proudly wrote a song exclaiming - "I'm not my diagnosis - I'm Alicia!"
